

Call for Papers

“ARGENTINE URBANITIES” Delimiting Space and Spatiality

We welcome papers from multi and/or interdisciplinary perspectives for the next volume of JLAUS. This issue will be dedicated in its entirety to Argentina. We invite perspective contributors to submit articles about relevant topics in the Humanities or in the Social Sciences that address different questions regarding urban spaces and the construction of national identities.

Suggested topics but are not limited to:

Diasporas / Emigrations
Citizenships and Identities
Political Institutions and Elections
Public Policy
Civil Society and Popular Movements
Spaces and Marginality
Public and Private Spaces
Center and Peripheries
Communities
Urban Landscapes
Urban Spaces
The Utopian City
The City of Letters
Woman and the City
The City as Other
City and Nation
Control and Security

We accept papers in English, Spanish or Portuguese. Length should range between 5,000 and 6,000 words. Articles should follow MLA style. We request electronic submissions using an attached Word document. Use a relevant word from the title of your article to name the document. Please do not include any personal information inside the document. Provide all authorial information (the article's title with your name, rank, and affiliation) in the body of your e-mail. Send all submissions and communications to:

Dr. Raúl A. Galoppe
Dr. Kenneth Mitchell
Editors

Journal of Latin American Urban Studies

Montclair State University

E-mail: raul.galoppe@montclair.edu

Web: <http://depts.washington.edu/jlaus>

JLAUS is a peer-reviewed publication.